STAKEHOLDER REGISTRATION FORM

BACKGROUND

The Urban Renewal Programme is a government initiative, announced in 2001 with an intention to speed up service delivery and improve the quality of lives of communities living in eight identified township otherwise known as nodes. Mdantsane was identified as one of the nodes. The main aim of the programme is:

“To fight poverty and underdevelopment through job creation, infrastructure development and the stimulation of growth”.

The objectives of the Urban Renewal Programme are as follows:

- To address poverty alleviation and underdevelopment by focusing the resources of all of government on the nodes. The aim would be to maximize the quality and the quantity of service delivery to the poor.
- To achieve increased equity, by bringing these previously excluded communities closer to economic and social opportunities.
- To encourage socially cohesive communities, who are viable, safe, mutually supportive, productive and involved.
- To ensure integration between the spheres and sectors of government, understanding that to make a difference in the lives of poor people, all of government must work closely together.
- To enhance local government capacity to deliver, by building stronger and financially healthy municipalities, who are accountable to communities in the nodes.

Who are the beneficiaries?

The Urban Renewal Programme targets urban communities, with a special focus on vulnerable groups such as women, youth, the aged and the disabled.
